November is National

Native American Heritage Month!

The BMI is proud to celebrate the diverse cultures and histories of Native Americans and acknowledge their many contributions to society--especially in Baltimore.

From past exhibits like "Hard Working Pilgrims: Lumbee Indians In Baltimore City Industry" and "Why We Work" to "Shattered: Images from the Fall of Bethlehem Steel," exploring Native histories through a modern lens allows visitors to see how Native American stories are embedded in the overall narrative of our nation; this raised visibility opens up a dialogue about historical and contemporary issues Native Americans face within the museum's theme of industry and beyond.

We encourage our visitors to explore opportunities to celebrate the various cultures, art, languages, and traditions of America's Native peoples--not just for the month of November but throughout the year.

BMI FARMERS' MARKET

Spend your Saturday morning in the waterfront pavilion's market featuring fresh produce, local meat and eggs, oven-fresh sweets, bright flowers, tasty ready-to-eat treats, artisan items, and more.

Family-friendly activities offered throughout the season, as well as a changing schedule of live music and community-interest vendors. The market offers easy access to pedestrians and cyclists, as well as plenty of free on-site parking. Picnic tables are available, inviting visitors to relax by the harbor.

WHEN Saturdays, May 18-November 30, 2019 | 9:00am - 1:00pm

11/30 will be the Last BMI Farmer's Market of the season.

Many thanks to LifeBridge Health for their generous support of the 2019 market season.

Children's Halloween Oath Ceremony

For Halloween this year, the BMI was in for a special treat as 22 children and their families visited the museum to participate in a children's naturalization ceremony. U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) held the ceremony in our Decker Gallery and in the spirit of Halloween, encouraged participants to wear costumes -- we are excited to say that Spider-Man and Baby Shark were in attendance. All of the participants were under 14 years old, representing 17 countries: Burma, Cameroon, Costa Rica, Cote d'Ivoire, El Salvador, Ethiopia, India, Iran, Iraq, Japan, Malaysia, Montserrat, Nepal, Nigeria, Peru, Russia, and Vietnam.

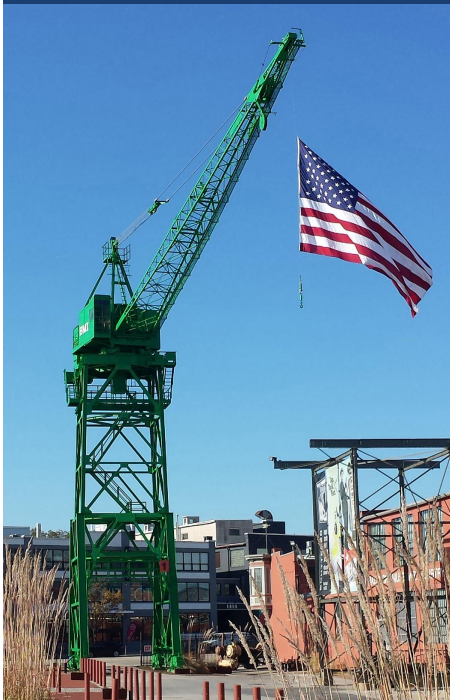

Over 150 years ago, where the BMI stands today, the Platt and Company Oyster Cannery was a starting point for newly arrived immigrants to find work and opportunity in Baltimore. Over the years, the BMI has presented and commemorated the stories of immigrants and their contributions to industry and innovation in Maryland. For 22 children, the BMI now is a starting point for a whole new generation of immigrants, serving as a space of celebration for these newly naturalized U.S. citizens and their families.

After reaching out and receiving feedback from members of our community, the BMI is excited to announce that on December 1st, we will be launching a new BMI membership program!

BALTIMORE BEER NIGHT

Thurs, Nov. 21 | 6:30-9pm
Baltimore Museum of Industry
1415 Key Highway
Tickets/info: thebmi.org

Baltimore Beer Night

Baltimore, a city whose past was crafted by immigrants, innovation, and industry, has a long history with the art of brewing. Since 1748, when John Leonard Barnitz, a German immigrant, established the city's first brewery, Baltimore has been bringing communities together over pints of delicious beers perfected by local breweries.

Beyond the craft of brewing, Baltimore breweries have opened their doors to the community to meet, organize, and celebrate, from Mary Pickersgill sewing the flag that would inspire the "Star-Spangled Banner" on the floor of Brown's Brewery in 1813 to the Belvedere Hotel doubling as a speakeasy.

On November 21, join the Baltimore Museum of Industry at our annual Baltimore Beer night. Immerse yourself in Baltimore's brewing industry—past and present—while enjoying a taste of Charm City. There will be a panel discussion led by Brewing historian Erika Goergen, followed by a reception featuring tastings from each company along with live music and light fare from Mother's Grille.

Participating breweries include: Charm City Meadworks, Checkerspot Brewing, Diamondback Brewing Co., Heavy Seas Beer, Key Brewing, Monument City Brewing Co, and Union Craft Brewing.
